LANSING WARNS NATION OF SUBMARINE MENACE

BRYAN AT LUNCHEON SOUNDS CALL TO SERVICE OF COUNTRY

PEOPLE'S UNITY IN SUPPORT OF NATION URGED BY COMMONER

200 Santa Ana Boosters Hear Former State Secretary Make Stirring Plea

Complimenting the state of California upon its advance steps in political reforms, its leadership in the advocacy and institution of laws which will be emulated by other states and making a strong appeal for unity in the support of the government at this time, William Jennings Bryan, the great commoner, today delighted 200 business men of this city in a short after dinner talk at the Odd Fellows hall.

It was the regular weekly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce and the occasion of his visit here to lecture at the Chautauqua was improved to bring the former secretary of state in close touch with the active business men of the city.

The banquet hall was crowded with men anxious to hear the great orator. Two hundred had seats at the table, with many in the hall who could not find places at the tables. Secretary Metzger this morning found it necessary to turn down requests of some eighty or ninety people who failed to make reservations in time. Had the reservations been requested yesterday, a larger hall would have been secured.

Must Ban Politics

Reciting the pleasures of acquaintanceships made in his visits to various parts of the country in his political life and the opportunities of renewing them by reason of his connection with the Chautauqua, he said the time had come when things we hold in common are of far more importance than one's political aspirations. "Today we make the flag the one big display. It is seen everywhere, while in times of peace it is displayed with less prominence. We admire, we love that flag, because we are conscious of the fact that it stands for all of us. It united us all.

"It has been a great pleasure to me to come to California. California has grown in population, has been progressive in every way. There have been great upheavals in California, and the state has set the pace in political reforms. Party organizations have been broken up. It has been the leader in reforms—reforms which other states must follow. The initiative and woman's suffrage are examples of the progressive spirit of the people of this state.

Co-operative Spirit Grows

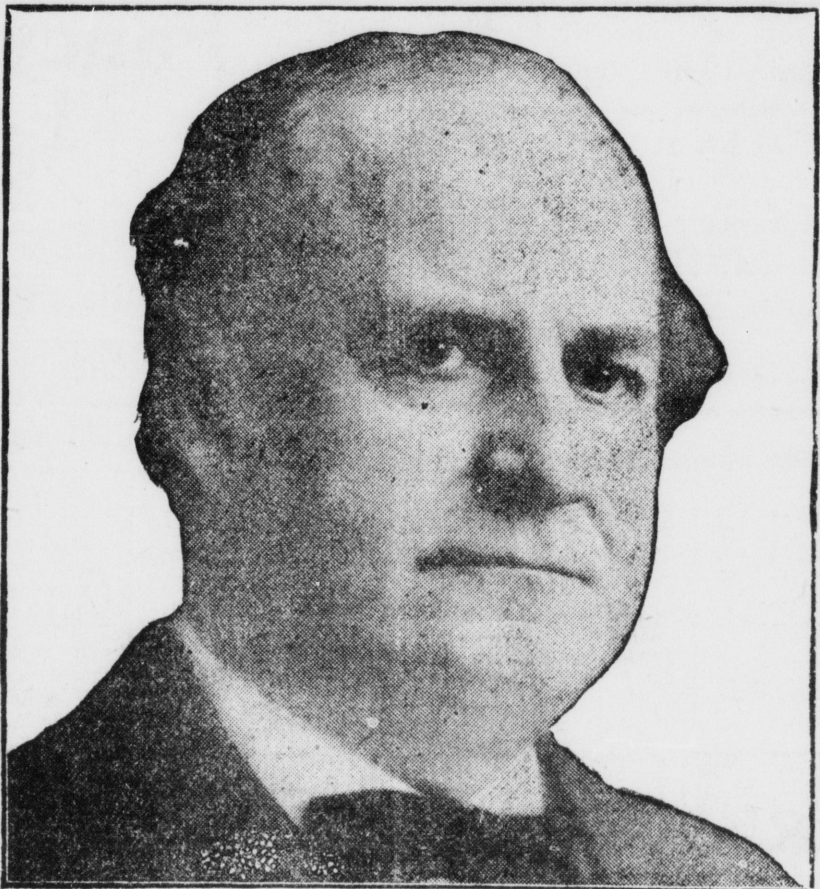

"Co-operation is the growing sentiment of this country. I am pleased to note the co-operative spirit of the people of this little city as evidenced by the attendance here today of business men. It is evidence to me that you understand the strength of united effort.

"In the association of organizations of the character represented here—the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants and Manufacturers' Association—the spirit of enthusiasm as of the one, or more, passes from one to another, the exchange of ideas, all tend to bring results that could not be accomplished other than through unity of thought and action.

"I am glad to tell you that the trend of thought and action in this country is tending to progressiveness, and I rejoice that our people are progressing and are gathering wisdom and rushing forward to meet the new obligations that are constantly confronting them. "In the day of the commencement exercises we hear of the golden past. I see no golden age better than the present—no time when the opportunity for service was greater than it is now.

All Must Respond

"It is a time when we are called to the defense of the nation. The call comes to everyone—man, woman and child—and I doubt not but that every citizen who prizes his citizenship will do his part, whatever that part may be—whether to expose his breast to the enemy's guns, whether to die, or whether to go into the fields of production.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

PEACE REPORTS STIR U. S. ALLY WAR BOARD

Commissioners Skeptical of Any Move That Hollweg May Hold Out

BY GEORGE MARTIN

(United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, May 2.—Three major propositions commanded the attention of the allies' world war conference here today, as follows:

Speculation as to what Germany's peace move will be in the Reichstag tomorrow.

The detailed offer of American shipping to our European allies and organization of the "speed-up" program for building more ships.

The agreement of the United States government, over the objection of certain members of the war college, to send troops to Europe at once if they are wanted.

French, English and American war commissioners today were exceedingly skeptical of any peace move, however seemingly attractive, which Bethmann-Hollweg may hold out tomorrow.

There is a feeling in official circles that the ulterior motive of the projected peace proposal is three-fold:

To capitalize the last dying hope that the United States can be swayed from active participation in the war.

That German separate peace propaganda in Russia may crystallize and a separate peace be manipulated.

And that wavering South America, the court to which Germany eyes turn hungrily and hopefully, according to the allied commissioners now here may be reset at normal and kept out of the war altogether.

Germany, the allied commissioners here said today, can make a superficially magnanimous peace offer by giving up everything but her corridor into Turkey and still be victorious.

"The moral effect troops"—probably about 2000 marines or militia—which France wants at the front at once, will be sent. The government's offer to send a large army in small groups, beginning immediately, is before the European allies today. This would obviate employing great blocks of shipping by sending the armies en masse.

Should the allies say openly, "Send the armies at once," it would cause no surprise in Washington.

Plans for mobilization of American shipping went forward rapidly today. The allies and the American shipping board worked out details of an international shipping agreement. They sealed the pact by awarding one American ship to France and one to Italy. The government mapped legislation for all inland, coastwise and trans-Atlantic shipping of the country. Government shipping control is a prelude to putting into effect the in-

ALLIES MAY AGREE TO GERMAN PEACE OFFER, IS REPORT

WASHINGTON, May 2.—It is authoritatively stated today that if the reported German peace offer scheduled to be made in the Reichstag tomorrow by Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg includes Germany's abandonment of Bulgaria, Serbia and Turkey, the entente governments may consider it.

If no concessions in the east are offered, it is stated, the German move will be branded as insincere, inasmuch as Germany's hold in the east gives it a death grip on what is termed the "vital nerve center of the world."

The majority of the allies, it is learned from various sources here, do not expect a permanent peace, but one that will last from five to six generations.

international shipping control agreement.

Cuba is doing her part. The Cuban war commissioners here announced that the German and Austrian ships seized in Cuban waters are undergoing $150,000 worth of repairs and will be put into service under the Cuban flag carrying foodstuffs and supplies.

The French commission will leave for Chicago tomorrow.

GERMANY NO LONGER ABLE TO DICTATE PEACE TERMS, WRITES TAGEBLATT EDITOR

LONDON, May 2.—What sort of peace terms German Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg would offer tomorrow before the German reichstag ran the gamut of speculation today. Most London newspapers agreed the chancellor's second proffer had been forced by growing unrest through the central empires for some official government statement of Germany's war aims.

Meanwhile German newspaper comment, received via Holland, included his extract from an editorial by Theodor Wolff in the Tageblatt:

"We must openly admit that Germany is no longer able to dictate peace terms, even if she strove for peace with an outward show of an annexation, which is not the case. Germany, however, demands a peace that will allow her freedom of trade and independence and guarantee her economic interests abroad shall be protected, whether they be in Sydney, Yokohama or Antwerp."

The reichstag reassembled today after a recess since April 24. At the time the sitting was dissolved amid considerable disorder on account of socialist demands for complete discussion of the whole subject of food supplies and rationing.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 2.—Bill Tate's six feet, seven inch frame lay on the floor five minutes after Sam Langford pushed over a right hook to the jaw.

1,300,000 Germans Killed

POPULATION IN KAISER'S LAND CUT 3,800,000 IS ESTIMATE

Frenchwomen Work In Fields Within Sound of World's Greatest Cannon Duel

AMSTERDAM, May 2.—To date Germany has lost 1,300,000 killed in fighting, according to statistics compiled by Dr. Friedrich Naumann and announced in a recent lecture in Berlin, according to advices here today.

Naumann estimated that with this staggering total of killed and the decrease in the German birth rate, the total German population has been reduced by 3,800,000. The surplus of females over males in Germany, he figured, had been increased from 800,000 to more than 2,000,000.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 2.—Evacuation of Must by the Russians and their retirement to the north was announced in an official statement today.

LONDON, May 2.—England's war cabinet is now considering a compulsory rationing scheme, Captain Bathurst, of the food control department, announced in the house of commons today.

LONDON, May 2.—England's present national debt is 3,854,000,000 pounds ($18,499,200,000), according to figures included in the budget introduced in the house of commons today by Chancellor of the Exchequer Andrew Bonar Law.

LULL ON BRITISH FRONT NOW IN THIRD DAY

LONDON, May 2.—Another night of inaction insofar as large movements were concerned was reported from the British front today by Field Marshal Haig.

"Between St. Quentin and Lens there was mutual artillerying at night," he declared. "In the neighborhood of Faismaux a German raiding party was repulsed."

A halt in major operations on the British front has now extended over three days. Meanwhile the armies on both sides continue locked along the Scarpe, neither side being able to gain against the big forces opposing.

FRENCHMEN TILL FIELDS IN HEARING OF HISTORY'S GREAT ARTILLERY BATTLE BY HENRY WOOD

(United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN CHAMPAGNE, May 2.—France is waging her greatest artillery battle of the war to blast loose the German hold on the crest of Moronvilliers—Gibrat of the Champagne plains.

And within hearing of the continuous thunder of her cannon—almost in sight of them—French soldiers are working alongside peasant women girls and little children in plowing sowing and harrowing the ground.

This greatest battle of the guns began Sunday. It extended over more than eight miles. No Sabbath calm reigned here. It was an inferno of noise and smoke and flame. For twenty-four hours I watched its progress, standing on a height north of the Vesle valley.

Add Two Barrages

When daylight failed and French observers could no longer make minute observation of the enemy's position directing the fury of their artillery fire, the French offset lack of eyes by increasing the intensity of the bombardment. They added two barrages of fire. One was a wall of projectiles dropped in front of the German front line trenches. It was to stop all possibility of enemy attacks as well as to blast away German barbed wire defenses and clear entanglements away preparatory to a French advance.

The second barrage was at the rear of the German lines. Its purpose was to cut off all supplies and communication.

Together the barrages served to isolate the German trench defenders from all human aid.

Shell-Riddled Furnace

The shells carried out this plan over more than eight miles of front in a spot long previously chosen for their attack. They made this eight miles of German trench work a shell-riddled furnace. As night continued it seemed as though a new maximum of intensity of fire was attained every minute. Not for a second did the

WOMEN TO WORK ON RAIL LINES IN PLACE OF MEN DRAFTED

Many Eastern Roads Make Arrangements to Meet Conscription Conditions

NEW YORK, May 2.—Many big eastern railroads today started making arrangements to employ women in place of men called to arms by the draft.

Among the roads which are taking these steps are the New Haven, Lehigh Valley, Erie, New York Central, the Pennsylvania and the Long Island. The Central Railroad of New Jersey has not made any plans yet, but by experiments already conducted in its system it feels sure that women can do the work of a large number of men.

All roads made it plain that no men would be displaced by women unless actually drafted. The women will be used in departments not actually engaged in physical operation of trains.

At the offices of the Lehigh Valley road it was stated that women are now being given preference in the hiring of new employees, in departments where they are able to do the work, as the management expects many men will be called to the colors within a few months.

The Lehigh Valley is already employing women as car cleaners and has made some experiments with them as train dispatchers. The New York Central also is employing women as car cleaners.

The New Haven offices declared there was no doubt steps will be taken to have women take the place of drafted men. The Long Island is preparing to employ a large number of women in clerical departments. This road has already given work to scores of women and the experiment is declared to be a success.

Between 300 and 400 men employees of the Grand Central Terminal are members of the national guard and are momentarily expecting a summons to duty. All arrangements are being rushed to put women in their places. Some have already left and women are doing their work.

Face Famine

The Erie offices stated an actual famine in male clerical labor was already being faced. Women are being called in wherever possible.

"They may also be used to sell tickets—and collect tickets also, for that matter," said one official.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey has not taken any actual steps yet, but experiments which have been conducted show that the employment of women as clerks, ticket agents, and similar positions, is entirely "feasible."

"This is a situation," it was said, "which every railroad and every industry must face. We might as well get ready in time."

The Pennsylvania lines place of many women in clerical positions and will later try them in other and more important posts.

COUNTIES TO BE PAID FOR LOSSES AT FAIR

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—Hard sailing was encountered in the Senate on the final day of the session by the bill to reimburse counties for loss of exhibits in the state fair fire last fall. It passed 21 to 11 but would have been beaten had not Shearer and Rominger changed their votes from no to aye. Nine counties had put in claims totaling $30,000. To guard against a repetition of the blaze the legislature voted $200,000 for a fire-proof exhibit pavilion to be constructed as soon as possible.

MATHEWS ROAD BILL ONLY ONE TO CARRY

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—The only road construction bill to secure approval of the legislature was the Mathews bill, carrying an appropriation of $60,000 for a new all-the-year road from Susanville, Lassen county, to the California-Nevada state line. The total appropriation sought in road bills was something like $5,000,000 but all were out excepting the Mathews bill and a blanket appropriation of $250,000 for roads leading to the trunk highways connecting San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento and Eureka, all these being classed as essential from a military viewpoint.

13 ARE LOST WHEN DIVER SINKS YANKEE CRAFT; 33 RESCUED

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Secretary Lansing this afternoon voiced an official warning to the country regarding the submarine situation, saying: "We might as well wake up to the fact and make up our minds that the situation is serious."

LONDON, May 2.—The American steamer Rockingham has been submerged, it was announced today. Thirteen men are reported missing. Thirty-three survivors were rescued by a patrol boat.

ARGENTINE UNEASY AT BERLIN VERSION OF DIVER ATTACK

BUENOS AIRES, May 2.—Germany's explanation of the torpedoing of the Argentine steamer Monte Protegido is unsatisfactory to the Argentine government, according to information from official sources today. It was generally believed that Argentine will announce a break in relations with the imperial government.

No announcement was made as to the exact excuse advanced by the German government for sinking the steamer.

The Monte Protegido was sunk off the Spanish coast. At first there was some question as to the authenticity of her Argentine registry, but this was cleared up.

U-BOAT ATTACK ON OIL TANKER VACUUM TOLD

LONDON, May 2.—The second boatload of survivors of the American armed steamer Vacuum were officially reported saved today. The additional survivors include Captain S. S. Harris, Third Mate Ed Husted, the boatswain and four American blue-jackets, gunners on the vessels.

One American consular report declared the seven additional men landed Sunday on an island near the coast where there was no telegraphic communication and therefore could not report their safe arrival.

American gunners Parker, Williams, Luyke and Williams were reported as the four men included in the second survivors' list.

Captain Harris advised the American consul that Lieut. C. C. Thomas U.S.N., commanding the navy gunners aboard the Vacuum, had been lost. He said three gunners were likewise missing. Harris and the other survivors of the second boatload were en route to a British port today.

George Wilson of the first survivors' party of eighteen, arrived at Liverpool today with a graphic story of the disaster.

"The submarine fired her torpedo, then submerged," he said. "Later she reappeared and fired her guns at us, completing the work of sinking of the Vacuum. Two of our boats were damaged in lowering and sank, drowning the occupants."

While consular reports today put the number of gunners included in additional list of survivors with Captain Harris at four, the Vacuum Oil Company's advices put the number at six.

Survivors who have reached London said it was 10 o'clock Saturday morning when the submarine was first sighted, very close to the Vacuum.

Hardly a minute elapsed before the torpedo which the U-boat immediately fired struck the side of the ship. A tremendous explosion resulted, throwing many of those on the Vacuum's deck off their feet.

Survivors said the Vacuum began filling and sinking at once, going down astern. Meanwhile, the submarine slowly circled the ship, firing four shells into the foundering hull. These smashed the wireless. All of those rescued united in asserting that the attack came so swiftly that the Vacuum did not have a chance to use her defensive armament.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Though the draft machinery has not yet been completed, the plan will include a proclamation setting an early date for all men between the ages decided upon to register. They will be issued cards designating the class in which they will be called for examination. Calls will be issued by classes and the physically unfit be rejected.

Local authorities are to assist in getting "slackers" failing to register. It is expected that the jury wheel system will be used to draw the men.

Secretary Baker today told the state defense council representatives that the state and federal governments must closely co-operate in assembling the new army and registering eligibles.

Secretary Baker wants registration day made a "national demonstration" of patriotism. He said that the identity of the state militia would be preserved as far as possible.

Secretary Lane warned the state council representatives that the war is likely to last several years and said that the Germans have two years' supplies on hand. He advised that preparations be made in this country for a long struggle, and said that the 400,000 tons of shipping submerged week before last shows the necessity of speeding shipbuilding.

The house today passed the $2,827,000,000 war appropriation bill, the biggest in the history of the world, with only Representative Meyer London, Socialist, voting "No."

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The question of the "Roosevelt Volunteers" was the most important before the senate and house conferees on the army bill today and pressure was being brought on the Roosevelt opponents to yield.

Some believe that President Wilson may yet favor Roosevelt's plan and that soon.

2 MILLION LOOT IS OBTAINED BY DUMMY DIRECTORATE, CHARGE

PITTSBURGH, May 2.—A federal investigation of the Pittsburgh Life & Trust Company shows that a group of New York promoters got control of the concern and through dummy directors in two days milked it of $2,000,000, it was learned today. The men are now sought. The concern was wrecked.

CONGRESS DISTRICTS TO SUPPLY 725 MEN IN DRAFT, IS OPINION

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Registrar Zemansky of San Francisco, does not agree with army officers here who estimated that California will be called upon to furnish 12,551 men of each 500,000 conscripted in the new American army. He has prepared figures indicating that California will be called on to furnish only about 8,000 per 500,000. This is only about 725 per congressional district.

WAR UNITY PLANNED BY VARIOUS STATES

WASHINGTON, May 2.—To bring the efforts of states into a "working unity with the national government for the prosecution of the war," representatives appointed by the governors of the various states are meeting here today with the Council for National Defense.

Secretary of War Baker, who is chairman of the council, issued the call upon governors for delegates to the conference. It will meet criticism which has been frequent of late, that preparedness measures are conflicting, by co-ordinating methods of mobilizing man power, coping with the food situation and collecting military and industrial census data.

tive labor and help produce those things essential to the safety of the nation.

"We, everyone of us, should uphold those in power, we should be a unity in supporting the government."

Frank L. Worden was chairman of the luncheon today, and in brief patriotic remarks introduced the man who has separated parties and divided the people on live political issues.

FRENCH CANNON IN DEATH DUEL

terrible barrage of fire relax, nor the methodical long range shells cease pounding.

All through the night of steel hail, the Germans sent up multi-colored distress signals, seeking assistance from the rear, while in front of the trenches, over No Man's Land, their illuminating shells momentarily turned night into day.

As the night advanced the bombardment increased in fury. Smoke and dust turned the clear moonlight air into an impenetrable mist, through which giant gun flashes appeared as mere sparks. Yet, the French artillery observers, with their perfect range instruments, observed details invisible to the naked eye, even including the giant explosions ten to fifteen miles behind the enemy's lines, where well placed shots from great range cannon exploded German munitions depots.

Fierce Air Fight Rages

Simultaneously with this combat, an equally fierce aerial battle raged in the star lighted heavens. Both French and German army commanders sent behind the other's line big bombardment squadrons of aeroplanes. From where I stood these aerial craft were invisible, but the rumbling of their motors and the sharp crash of their bombs were audible above the artillery's roar.

Back to the rear great searchlights fingered the sky, locating the enemy raiders, while anti-aircraft guns shelled the skies and fighting planes swept about to play machine gun fire against them.

Meanwhile other French planes circled above the artillery fire fighting back German machines and dropping bombs or occasionally swooping down and flooding the trenches below with machine gun fire, out of range of projectiles from the enemy.

Guns Repair Omissions

All night these aerial battles were fought, repeated and re-fought. Then at daybreak these night hawks left the air. They were replaced by French observation planes, soaring over that part of the front where the attack was impending, seeking out the places where the night's bombardment had not yet completed its destruction. Following their report and the fixing of new ranges, the French artillery went methodically to work repairing its omissions.

At 12:40 in the afternoon the French infantry leaped from the trenches and went loping up the slopes of Mounts Haut and Cornillet.

Although in the first onward rush the French were victorious everywhere, the Germans gradually put up the resistance of desperation. Hindenburg threw into the struggle another of his "strategical reserve" divisions—the thirty-third out of his total of forty-three reserve divisions on the western front which he has already sacrificed in seeking to check the Franco-British offensive.

Teuton Divisions Smaller

(Note: The German division formerly contained 20,000 men, but recent advances have detailed a new organization plan whereby such units now only include from 10,000 to 12,000 men.)

With the advent of this fresh division, French bayonet and hand grenade fighting ensued. The French were occasionally driven back. But every time they doggedly re-attacked. Night-fall found them even tighter grasping Moronvilliers crest and one of Germany's firmest grips still left on French soil. That grip is all but broken. Germany's fingers only hold a tiny bit of it now.

SOLONS IN FIGHT ON FLOOD CONTROL

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—The hardest and most bitter fight of the session of the legislature just ended was over the Sacramento and San Joaquin river flood control and reclamation measures. The project involved is the biggest public work in the west and ranks second in cost and importance only to the Mississippi river project.

The work is under the direct control of the United States government through its Debris Commission, while the state is represented by the reclamation board. The cost is paid half by the state and half by the Federal government, the state raising its half largely through the formation of assessment districts.

As a result of the action taken by the legislature the old reclamation board of seven members has been replaced by one of three members, appointed by the governor, two from the state government to serve without pay and the third to receive $5000 a year and be the executive officer of the board. It was on this change, which its opponents termed "throwing the reclamation board out on its ear," and on Polsley's bill excluding large amounts of Glenn and Butte county lands from the reclamation district that the fight centered. Both finally passed.

The reclamation work has three important phases: First the "uncorking" of the mouth of the Sacramento river, straightening and deepening the streams and the building of weirs, dams to allow the flood waters to escape into by-passes, all at a cost of about $1,000,000, in which the state and Federal governments are equal partners. Second, the construction of by-passes to carry flood waters from the river channels to the lower river or bay by direct lines, to be built by the state through assessing the property owners. Third, state regulation of the reclamation levee building so that river, slough and by-pass channels shall not be restricted. All of these phases came into the fight on the reclamation measure.

FORESTERS PICNIC AT NORTH SACRAMENTO

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—Delegates to the grand court, Foresters of America, after a business session this morning, went to North Sacramento at noon for a picnic arranged in their honor by the local court of Foresters. Tonight drill teams from San Francisco, Oakland, Marysville, Livermore, Stockton and Sacramento will compete for honors at the Sacramento armory.

WOMAN BEATEN

ANAHEIM, May 2.—Pursued into the street and set upon by her husband, Mrs. Seferino Escarsia, 418 South Clementine street, Anaheim, was severely beaten. Her screams as she fled from the house aroused neighbors who summoned the police. Escarsia was taken to the city jail and is held in default of $250 bail. Escarsia, who was said to have been under the influence of liquor, attacked his wife as soon as he entered the house, it is said.

PRENDERGAST BILL IS 'LAUGHED TO DEATH'

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—The Prendergast vivisection bill over which there was such a furious fight in the Assembly, was laughed to death in the Senate committee on public health and quarantine. The day before the date set for adjournment, Chairman F. M. Carr called the bill up. Senator Stuckenbruck, the Lodi blacksmith-humorist, promptly made a motion that the bill be referred to Senator Kehoe as a committee of one to report May 1. Of course it was known that the legislature will be a thing of the past on May 1 and all members of the committee being thus wise, joined in the joke and the motion carried unanimously. Owing to the wide opposition to the bill the Senate committee never gave the measure serious consideration.

CHAUTAUQUA'S 1918 CONTRACT FULLY SIGNED

Fifty Names

Santa Ana is to have a Chautauqua in 1918. A contract with the Redpath-Horner Company, which is putting on the Chautauqua that ends here to night, has been fully signed up and has been delivered to Jesse Teagarden, the superintendent who has had charge here.

A. B. Gardner, chairman of this year's guarantors, circulated the contract yesterday, and had no difficulty in getting plenty of signers. The guarantors will have $250 or $300 over all expenses this year. That money will be kept for use for next year's Chautauqua.

PETROGRAD RIOTING LAID TO EXTREMISTS

LONDON, May 2.—May Day passed peacefully in Russia following a day of small sized rioting in Petrograd in which bombs were thrown, numbers of citizens were arrested, shots were fired and Major-General Kashtalinski fell victim to an assassin's bullet.

The rioting occurred Monday. Dispatches from Petrograd today attributed all the trouble to extremist agitators. Tuesday's celebration of May Day, coming after Monday's rioting, passed off without untoward incident apparently all over Russia. More than a million people in Petrograd joined the celebration in great parades, speeches and demonstrations. It was the first time in history that Russian citizens were able openly to celebrate May Day.

The Petrograd speeches nearly all sounded the note of Russia's aim of not waging war for profit in lands or domination of other peoples. President Wilson's name was frequently mentioned and always cheered by the crowd.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS BILL UP TO STEPHENS

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—A bill providing that every person who holds a state job under appointment for a year or more shall be certified without a civil service examination was passed on the last day of the session. It remains to be seen whether Governor Stephens will stamp this as an anti-civil service bill and veto it as he has vetoed other measures aimed at the merit system.

WILL LAY PLAN FOR RAISING Y. M. C. A. FUND

Plans for raising Orange county's proportion of the $3,000,000 to be raised by Y. M. C. A. organizations in the United States will be made Monday night at the home of A. J. Crookshank, when the County Y. M. C. A. committee will meet in conference with State Secretary W. M. McRea and William Wallace, former banker of Long Beach, who is now engaged in Y. M. C. A. work.

With the $3,000,000 proposed to be raised by the associations, Y. M. C. A. work will be established in all regions. California will raise $125,000 of the state total. Orange county will raise $2000.

Because of this county standing at the head of the list in county organization activities, Orange county has been called upon for an amount as large, if not larger, than the larger counties of the state. The organization here enjoys an enviable reputation in Y. M. C. A. work, and the local workers have every hope of maintaining the record of the association by raising the fund in the shortest time of any of the counties. The money raised in California will be spent entirely among California troops.

San Bernardino will launch its campaign at once and Orange county's hustling secretary has been called upon to assist in the organization of the work there. Secretary Cole went to San Bernardino this morning to be present tonight at a big banquet to be held preliminary to organization for securing the fund for that county. The meeting to be held here Monday night is of the greatest importance, for steps preliminary to the campaign will be taken, with the state secretary and Wallace advising and giving the benefit of their experience in such campaigns.

The county committee will also organize at the meeting.

NATIONAL DEFENSE, CLUB WOMEN'S TOPIC

PASADENA, May 2.—National defense and the part of the club women, the schools and other institutions therein form the underlying theme of today's meeting of the annual convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs. Particularly is this true of the session this afternoon when practically every paper will have bearing on the defense issue.

At this morning's session after a business session lasting about an hour an open forum with the subject of "The Relation of the Federal to Other Organizations" was held. The part of the county federation in club organization was discussed by Mrs. Lillian Pray Palmer, Mrs. W. C. Mushet spoke as a representative of the National Council of Women and Mrs. Herbert A. Cable representing to Women's Legislative Council of California. Miss Nadine Crump and Mrs. S. L. Wiley spoke on subjects with bearing on the state university. The morning session closed when the nominating committee made its report.

The program mapped out by the relief committee of the State Council of Defense was the opening subject for discussion on the afternoon's program. Dr. John R. Haynes, chairman of the relief committee speaking, "Civilian Relief" by Mrs. Seward A. Simons, "Red Cross and Concentration of Relief" by Miss Ethel Moore, "The Place of the Public Schools in National Defense" by President E. P. Clarke of the State Board of Education, and finally "Americanization as a Necessity to National Defense" by George L. Bell and "The Part of Women in a Defense Program" by Mrs. Shelly Tolhurst made up the program.

Tonight, after a dinner in honor of Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the evening session will take place. The program includes an address on "Literature and Patriotism" by Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, together with a profusion of musical numbers.

Compelled to Raise the Price of Milk!

A critical situation has arisen, affecting the milk supply of the entire country. The cost of production has advanced so rapidly that the dairyman finds that he can make more money by selling his cows at the fabulous prices now ruling for butcher cattle than he can by keeping them to produce milk at the present prices.

Alfalfa hay has jumped from $10 and $12 a ton to $20 or more.

Grain hay has advanced from $15 a ton to $35 a ton.

There is a serious shortage of farm labor even at the increased wages now offered.

All other articles affecting the production of milk have gone up proportionately.

These discouraging conditions confront the dairymen today and unless the production of milk is placed on a basis as remunerative to the farmer as the butchering of milk cows and the disposal of feed in more profitable channels, a serious shortage of milk is sure to result.

This condition leaves us no other alternative than to pay the producer an added premium in order to properly safeguard the future supply of milk. This action will necessitate a corresponding raise in price to our customers.

Therefore, beginning Tuesday, May 1st, the price of milk will be advanced from 5c a pint to 6c, and from 10c a quart to 11c.

However, we are sure that our customers will appreciate the fact that even at the advanced price, we are asking no more than other localities are getting.

One quart of milk is equal in food value to any one of the following:
3-4 pound of beefsteak; 8 eggs; 4-5 pound of pork chops; 3-5 pound of ham; 1 pint of oysters; 2 pounds of chicken.

—Prof. Roseneau, Harvard University.

Speaking on a comparative food basis, here's another way of looking at it:

Milk is worth 15c a quart if beef is worth 20c a pound!

Milk is worth 26c a quart if eggs are worth 40c a dozen!

Milk is worth 20c a quart if pork chops are worth 25c a pound!

Milk is worth 18c a quart if ham is worth 30c a pound!

Milk is worth 35c a quart if oysters are worth 35c a pint!

Milk is worth 60c a quart if chicken is worth 30c a pound!

You can see by this that 10c a quart for milk is very low compared with the price paid for other products having the same food value.

FASHION'S INTERNATIONALISM

Internationalism became the note in spring styles for the American woman. She is learning more from the fashion books about her sisters in other lands than she used to learn from her old geography.

There is the Egyptian silhouette, long, perfectly straight and narrow. This is found in wonderful gowns that are the same width at shoulders, hips and hems. There is the smart hat—a turban of "distinctly Hindu inspiration." A Turkish hem gathers the fashionable lady's skirt in at the bottom. The Mexico bolero jacket—said to be very picturesque south of the Rio Grande—has made a successful raid across the border. There are costumes that show the long, graceful lines of classic Greece. And there is the wide, soft sash of the Japanese lady.

Internationalism doesn't stop with the lines of the season's costume. The very materials of which the wardrobe is made have been borrowed from other lands and races. The designs of the Maya Indian's woven baskets have been copied in the figures of the newest silks.

There is nothing if not variety in her ladyship's wardrobe now. If she learns something of those other lands whose fashions she has borrowed and if she borrows with an eye for beauty rather than for oddities, we will congratulate Dame Fashion on her latest whim. This is not saying, however, that any large proportion of the women who select a pattern for a new gown knows whether the idea came from Bagdad or Timbuctoo. She does know, though, that it is the fashion.

THE FLAG AT THE FRONT

A Texan boy is now in a British military hospital somewhere in France. Whether he will live or die is unknown. Even his name is hidden, thus far, by the veil of censorship. But history will have a niche for him.

A recent dispatch from Canada army headquarters told the story:

"To a young Texan who came to Ontario to enlist, and who is now lying wounded in the hospital, belongs the honor of first carrying the American flag into battle in the European war, into which the United States had just entered as a belligerent. He went up to the assault at Thelus carrying the Stars and Stripes on his bayonet, and fell thus."

It was a reckless thing to do. The sight of that flag waving on a bayonet in the charging Canadian line was enough to draw the concentrated rifle and machine gun fire of the opposing trenches. The Texan lad was inviting death. And he doubtless knew it. But the temptation to go into battle under his own colors was irresistible.

His was a true spirit. It is the spirit with which a million American lads will go into action, if they ever get to the front.

And there's another memorable thing about that little starry banner tied to a lone bayonet in the charge up Vimy ridge. It was an omen of victory. That commanding ridge the French and British had long fought for in vain. With that flag flying, in the beginning of the great British spring drive, the ridge was taken, and the first important victory of the year was won.

THE STATE MANAGER

The familiar city manager plan is now being adapted to state use. Kansas is about to turn over all its state institutions to a business man to run on ordinary business principles. The legislature provided for this innovation recently, and the plan is to go into effect July 1.

The state government is to take the form of a big corporation. The governor and three other officials make up the board of directors which selects a general manager to handle the state's affairs. There is no provision whatever for politics. And there is no limit to the manager's salary. The legislature wisely left that matter open, so that nothing should stand in the way of getting a man big enough for the job. It is likely that the incumbent will be paid more than the governor.

The size of the job, viewed as a business opportunity, may be inferred from the fact that the institutions over which the manager will preside take up four-fifths of the state's total expenditures. They represent an investment of more than $30,000,000. Over $5,000,000 a year is spent on new buildings, equipment, repairs, salaries, etc.

State government in this country has lagged behind federal and municipal government in methods of administration and in the realization of opportunities for further service. Recently there have been developments in many states, notably California under the leadership of Hiram W. Johnson, tending to overcome this reproach. The Kansas experiment will be watched with keen interest.

New York state is going to be a mighty unhealthy place for dogs, if a bill in its legislature goes through. It is proposed to license the dogs $2.50 apiece, and aims to make a clean sweep of unlicensed canines. Santa Ana has had the dog licensing system for a long time, and the longer it has it the more dogs it gets. You are entitled to three guesses as to what proportion of them today are wearing tags. There is just one restriction on your guess, and that is that it will not be considered if you guess over twenty per cent. One potato, two onions and three lima beans will be given to the winner of the contest.

With Malice Toward None

By Henry James

Facing Famine

Professor Wygozinsky says that the people of the United States are facing famine. The statement has small relation to the truth, but it reports very well the hope that thrills the worthy bosom of the professor and others of his kind.

This country is not facing famine, but a condition that if neglected might cause it to face the disagreeable thing mentioned. As the people of the United States realize this, there is a noticeable absence of the neglect. Taken as a whole, they have no inclination to be slackers. They are anxious to help, and all want to be shown how to help.

Of course, this excepts the tramp, who may be subjugated by application of the vagrancy laws, and the ultra pacifist, who is beyond reform.

Well?

As though the circumstance were notable, a rather exultant statement is printed that the scion of a millionaire family has enlisted.

There are several millionaire families that are actually quite American in sentiment, and when the country, of which they own a share, is threatened, it is not strange that they should come to the front.

Two Good Suggestions

Constituents of Congressman Van Dyke of Minnesota, displeased because of his pro-German attitude, wired suggesting that he resign.

He wired back, suggesting that the signers of the message, 700 in number, enlist.

Certainly!

The Independent, a weekly that swallowed Harper's and since shows signs of indigestion, says that Germany should be paid for all the interned ships seized in this country.

Most assuredly. Of course this will be on condition that Germany first pays for all the ships it has destroyed.

Perhaps

Perhaps the golf links of today will be the potato patches of tomorrow, and onion tops were where now Kelly slides for second.

Then the gentlemen deprived of their accustomed exercise may get exercise just as beneficial by hoeing potatoes and onions.

Reverse Tip

Recently a waiter was swindled out of $4000 in cash.

For once he had made a mistake in accepting a tip.

Really Shady

A man named Shady was sued for divorce on the ground that he never bathed.

No chap with such a name ought to try to live up to it.

Women as Scrappers

The other night a man and woman were attacked by a pair of footpads. The man ran away and the deserted woman fought both the footpads and put them to flight.

After that she should have caught her escort and cuffed him.

Another Trust

Print paper manipulators have been indicted for maintaining a trust. So! The general suspicion that they are a gang of hold-ups seems to be justifiable.

Home Again

An Indiana lieutenant deserted into Mexico and sought to get a commission in the Mexican army.

This government felt that such a patriot could not be spared, and he is in his native land again, housed in about the best managed penitentiary there is, board assured for twenty years.

Slaughter Made Cheap

A man drove his automobile so as to cause the death of another man, a stranger to him, against whom he could not have had a grudge, any more than all who drive autos may entertain toward the pedestrian in general.

Suit was brought, responsibility fixed and damages set at $400.

Not exactly complimentary to the memory of the deceased.

Hair Cuts Go Up

The price for cutting hair has been advanced from 25 cents to 35 cents, and very likely there will be some kicking about it.

Yet the 'rah 'rah boy who gets his hair cut in some of the prevailing styles ought to be fined at least $5.

Evasion

Certain residents who are applying for citizenship are said thus to seek to avoid conscription by the country

Attracting Industries

San Bernardino Sun

If there is anything in large financial credit or cash inducements, we have two neighboring cities in position to grab everything in the way of factories that come along looking for location, with San Bernardino not attractive because it does not equal their inducements. Last year the live-wire business interests in Santa Ana made an extensive campaign and raised a subscription approximating $100,000—it may have reached that total, although the last statement we saw placed the fund at over $80,000, to be used by the directors of the organization in locating new manufacturing industries. This fund was not paid into the treasury in cash, but is subject to assessment if money for such purpose is required. For example: Along comes capital looking for a place to establish a factory. It is well financed but can use some additional cash advantage, or would be interested if offered a site. The directors of the fund determine that the interests represented are worthy, and they decide to invest $5,000 or $10,000, or possibly advance that sum or more to secure the factory. Then an assessment on the subscriptions is levied, and if a subscriber is on the list for a total of $100 or $500, he pays the proportion of his subscription which may be required to make the sum desired. He may never be called upon to pay all of it, and certainly will pay none of it unless in exchange for the location of manufacturing enterprises which are worth much more than the cost to him.

Now Riverside is starting to raise the same kind of a fund, for the same use. It has set the total at $100,000 and already has $12,000 pledged. Just at present it is negotiating with the backers of a canning factory enterprise, and a statement is out urging Riverside financial and property interests to come across in the following language:

The executive committee of seven has given some attention to the application made by the Toon Bros., who are interested in establishing a cannery in Riverside. They have recommended to the attorneys-in-fact that credit to the amount of $10,000 be given. Such action has also been endorsed by the directors of the organization. Since the plan for the guarantee fund has been accepted and the executive committee has recommended the extension of credit, we are ready for subscribers of credit.

Up to the present time credit to the extent of $12,000 has been pledged. We are asking for a guarantee fund of $100,000, but it is absolutely imperative that the fund reach the $25,000 mark before extension of $10,000 may be made for the cannery. That means that $12,500 must be subscribed within the next few days inasmuch as these men interested in establishing the cannery insist upon some definite answer shortly.

Riverside has spent some time looking for new industries. For quite a while they have sought a cannery. The question faces the citizens now as to whether or not they wish to take advantage of this proposed industry. Members of the committee appointed to raise the necessary fund feel that this is a time when members of the chamber of commerce can show whether or not they wish such a guarantee fund to be raised and whether or not they wish Riverside to have a cannery.

San Bernardino has many advantages in the matter of location, transportation, water supply and other considerations that are of importance, but if our neighbors offer a canning factory enterprise a credit of $10,000—in reality a loan to be repaid by the factory people—that is very likely to overbalance other considerations, even if they are important.

As a rule the Sun is doubtful of the plan of offering bonuses to locate industries, but if "everybody's doing it," the city that stands back will be passed by. Our neighbors may be offering something of superior attraction because they do not have the central location, abundant transportation, water supply and labor that are to be found here. But San Bernardino cannot sit with folded hands and see them outbid us. Why not raise a fund so that we may equal their financial inducements, and have others in addition?

Christian Warfare

Baltimore Star

Methodism, entrenched in conference here, sends to the White House a ringing message from the church militant, pledging to the President its "loyalty and unfailing support in every act that means the protection of the lives and interests of our citizens, the defense of the nation's honor, the preservation of her self respect, the continuance of the good will of the world, and the welfare of humanity at large."

To those panic stricken pacifists, who, rushing desperately to and fro in search of anything that bears the remotest resemblance to cover, would take refuge in the specious plea that whence they came.

If they get their first papers they are likely to be subject to conscription here and be in a nice, comfortable position 'twixt the devil and the deep blue sea.

Y. M. C. A. In Army Training Camps

Minneapolis Journal

One of the most humanizing organized activities of war time is the work of the Young Men's Christian Association in army training camps, in prison camps and in camps behind the firing lines. Wherever the organization has been established, its work has won grateful praise from the soldiers for in some one or more of its lines of labor it fills a want of every army man.

The first great lack felt by men in training camps is that of social recreation to counteract the monotony of camp routine; and the second is a home roof more commodious and hospitable than the little cramped army tent. These two needs the Y. M. C. A. has been quick to perceive and fill. The national organization proposes to erect in the training camps an association building for each brigade or aggregation of about five thousand men. These buildings will contain free reading and writing rooms which will be open all during the day and evening hours to all enlisted men. Here will be held every evening, if possible, some high class entertainment or lecture. Little personal needs not supplied by the war department are to be supplied by this home as well as may be. Effigious Sunday and midweek meetings are held, and week evening Bible classes are carried on.

The presence of an active center of good moral influence made attractive in a wisely directed way is a source of strength to the army's morale that can scarcely be over-estimated. The great majority of the members of the new American army will be boys of good character and good intentions; but the most of them will have need of associated help to resist the evils that commonly assail an army camp. This help is the Army Y. M. C. A.'s reason for being. No opportunity so great as that presented by this war has ever been offered to any Christian organization in America is so well prepared to seize the opportunity and make the most of it.

Miss Katynel Hinds of Orange Entertains Friends At Pre-Nuptial Affair

Miss Katynel Hinds of Orange, formerly bookkeeper at the Blade, was hostess yesterday afternoon at her home, gracefully assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. W. Hinds, in honor of her approaching marriage to Otto Lonsing.

The home was literally abloom with lovely roses, arranged in May baskets and during the afternoon Miss Opal Kurtz pleased the company with vocal numbers.

The interested maidens were also permitted to view the bride-elect's hope chest with all its beautiful contents, which proved the most pleasant feature of the occasion. Snapshots of the merry group were also taken.

In the dining room, where a dainty collation was served, the dome was topped with a perky kewpie, holding ribbon streamers which extended to a pair of gaily-attired kewpies, guarding the honoree's place. The places were marked with cards hand-painted in orange blossoms and dainty May baskets, the cards being the clever work of the bride-elect's sister, Miss Adelaide Hinds.

A silvery river extended down the center of the long table and upon its calm surface floated snowy swans.

During the service of the appetizing viands, the guests were wondering at the meaning of the bright Lincoln pennies which lay at each cover, when suddenly in dashed a wee newsboy, recognized as Little Miss Ada Marie Pruitt, shouting "Extra! Extra!" The girls quickly parted with their coppers and read the announcement of the wedding of Miss Hinds and Otto Lonsing for June 25. The curtains at the buffet were then drawn aside and disclosed a wedding scene, with the parts taken by kewpies.

The guests numbered Misses Zelma Sturgeon, Helen Phillips, Matilda, Esther and Clara Jensen of this city; Misses Oda Echolton, Olla Elmers and Augusta Lonsing of Anaheim; Misses Blanche and Onie Duffy of Fullerton and Opal Kurtz of Orange.

MAY DAY PARTY

Gay Month of Roses Ushered In With Delightful Afternoon of Whist

Mrs. C. V. Davis and Mrs. J. I. Clark were hostesses yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Davis on North Broadway, entertaining several score of their friends with a most delightful May Day whist party.

The rooms were fragrant with quantities of exquisite Cecile Brunner roses. Baskets, bowls and crystal vases overflowing with their beautiful burdens were used in every corner of the charming rooms, making a rarely beautiful scene.

Whist was played at fifteen tables. Mrs. John Tubbs and Mrs. Mark Lacy tied for high score, and Mrs. Lacy won on a cut, and was rewarded with a beautiful cut-glass flower basket—a May-basket that will be a delightful reminder of a happy May day.

The refreshments served at the small tables were as beautiful to look at as they were good to eat. Gay pink May baskets laden with Cecile Brunner roses centered the tables, and frilly little pink baskets held the nuts. The ices were in the form of pink May baskets, also, holding luscious ripe strawberries.

Belle Rogers Union Hears a Pointed Talk By Mrs. Ludwig, Purity and Rescue

An interesting meeting of the Belle Rogers Union was held in Armory parlor yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. Fannie Lash presiding.

Mrs. Estella Ludwig, superintendent of Purity and Rescue work, presented her subject in a very pointed and forceful talk, deploring the lax methods of mothers, whose daughters drift into the wrong paths.

Mrs. Ludwig emphasized the importance of kindness to everyone at all times and especially as a reformatory measure.

Cribbage Club Meets

The Northridge Cribbage Club, composed of Ed Brannan, Gib Bradford, Ray Stedman and Wilber Palmer, met last evening to play the eighty-eight game in a series of 132, which they plan to carry out.

The total score to date is 48 to 40 with Messrs. Bradford and Palmer holding high score. The men meet twice a week at the different homes.

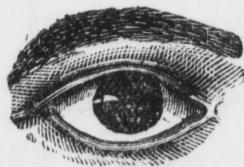

Celebrated Birthday

Harold Lee very pleasantly celebrated his sixteenth birthday last evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee, on North Van Ness avenue.

Twelve of his friends were present and the time was passed with merry games and the enjoyment of refreshments of ice cream and cake. The home was prettily decorated for the occasion.

Party Young Folks Enjoy the Past Week-end At San Juan Hot Springs

The following jolly company of friends spent the past week-end at San Juan Hot Springs: Messrs. GROUARD WRITES OF HIS ACTIVITIES WITH COAST ARTILLERY CO.

Franklin Grouard, son of Mrs. Lottie Grouard, 1076 West Fourth street, has written to the Register a breezy letter from where his company, the Fifteenth Coast Artillery, is stationed, as follows:

Greetings from somewhere in California, in the trenches, at the front, doing our bit.

Just came off of guard, so am off for the rest of the day with nothing to do except wash clothes, sew buttons on, fix up the tent and various other jobs.

We were physically examined the other day and lost eighteen men, and were vaccinated and got a shot of typhoid serum, with two more shots to follow seven days apart.

The weather has been very nice here, with one or two fogs.

There are troops all over this country, every place you go, and believe me, this place will be well protected when they get all done fixing it up in shape for war.

There is always something of interest going on. Right now I can see a party of sailors practicing land attacks, and early this morning there were five or six aviators swirling and swooping over our heads, doing fancy stunts.

Judging from some of the actions and manners of the milk-fed counter jumpers in this company, I think we have several potential heroines on our hands.

There is one other Santa Ana boy in the company, Cecil Coleman, brother of George Coleman.

W. W. RITNER SOON TO REJOIN COMPANY I

Wm. W. Ritner, member of Company I, who has been at Long Beach for treatment for injuries received there two months ago, will probably join his company in a few days. He was here yesterday upon a short visit to his mother, Mrs. Isabella Ritner, 320 West Washington avenue.

Ritner was employed by the Craig Ship Building Company there when he suffered burns which have incapacitated him since and he has been under a physician's care all the time. Yesterday was the first time he had been permitted to leave Long Beach. He expects the physician to release him in a few days, when he will report to Company I for duty.

BEAUTIES OF ORANGE CO. PARK, MODJESKA'S AS SEEN BY BOOSTER

Santa Ana, May 1, 1917.
Dear Register Readers:

If you have an hour "off duty," I am going to invite you to go with me to Modjeska, the gem of nature's beauty spots, in all this favored southland. Perhaps you have been there before, many times, but that doesn't matter. Come again once more, I may show you some places of interest you were not aware were there. We have our choice of two routes, so we will go one way—return the other. When we arrive at the top of the grade above El Modena, the "ice wagon" is turned to one side, and we get out, turn around, and there spread out in panoramic beauty is a scene of unsurpassed attraction. It's a veritable revelation. Looking out between the hills that rise in rugged grandeur on either side, it serves the purpose of a periscope, and the broad valley with its orchard lined homes and hedged in villages extend to where the blue horizon bends down to kiss the earth, and just beyond is the blue of the sea, with her silver lined waves lapping the shore. We journey on to the park. The Orange County Park, where nature in her kindest woods wove the tired office man and the street urchin to a forgetfulness of the week's weary toil. Here the hungry pauper and the merchant prince, the ragged urchin and the city dandy meet on common ground, and the car has no predominance over the other. Alongside the railing there, you will see the little 1911 diver standing beside a limousine of the 17 vintage. A few years ago, the condition of the roads up the canyon was barred to auto travel. You would just as well have attempted to negotiate the summit of the ridge where there was not even the semblance of a trail. But since Modjeska has gained a reputation of nationwide importance where as many as 100 machines go in a day, the roads have been straightened, smoothed and graded, until an experienced man could drive over them with his eyes closed. I would not recommend his trying this experiment, however. It did it once—just long enough to sneeze—and went into the ditch, and it cost me $4.69 to get the flivver out.

Scenery That Baffles Description
The scenery up the canyon, at this season of the year, is beyond compare. Grand old oaks, rivaling the Chinese dynasty in age—the road-way and trail off to the side canyons, where the wild phlox and magenta vie with the chapparral in making the hillsides a sheet of green. Calico colored canyons, lavender, pink, and purple lend a charm to the view.

The attractions added by man, to Modjeska, have taken nothing from the beauty that nature gave it. Stanford White, acknowledged premier of America's landscape artists, puzzled his cunning brain to attain the zenith of his skill to make this a beauty spot for future generations to admire. How well he wrought can be inferred from the fact that 400 tourists, a great many of them confirmed "globe trotters," visited the place one month last year.

I see a vast advantage to Orange county in opening this historic resort to the public. In coming from Los Angeles, as most of them do, the traveler must pass through our towns and villages and the wealth of our orchard lined driveways cannot escape their view, and they become entranced with the scene, and the desire to be nearer Modjeska, so they can make a visit more frequent will induce many to buy homes, and town and country will alike share the reward.

The reception parlor, where the great actress entertained in lavish splendor, has been converted into a modern dining room, and around the big fireplace, with its quaint old and-irons and a glowing backlog, gather nobility under every flag, and toast their royal shins, just as they did, "In days of old, when Barons bold, with anecdote and story, a vigil kept, while others slept, and won their way to glory." Be it remembered, Modjeska and her friends were refugees from Poland, and hither had they come to escape the tyranny of the Russian czar. The buildings are kept open to visitors, at all times of the year, and you should go into the "Madams" bed room and take a look through the wonderful "forest fire" window.

Grounds Marvel of Loveliness

The hillside—back of the house—rises at an angle of 40 degrees, or better, and is covered with a mass of myrtle as beautiful as the emerald green on the 17th of March, and flanked with a number of giant oaks, so heavy with age that their leaves are wrinkled. Looking out through this glass, you get all the vivid colorings of a forest on fire, even to the curling smoke, and the heat waves, dancing like imps in the furnaces of the unredwooded. The scene is so real that you seem to snie the odors of burning sunnamb, and you listen for the "clang, clang" of the fire wagon and a brigade in blue uniforms. The glass that produces this weird resemblance to a forest fire came from India, and it is said there is not another in the United States like it.

The grounds around the buildings are a marvel of loveliness, with blended colorings, and quaint foliage. Enclosed in a wire netting, to protect it from the ravages of the vandal, who has never learned the meaning of the word "sacred," stands a specimen of the original "Thorntree" of Palestine, from whence came the steel pointed thorns that nailed the Savior's hands to the cross. Modjeska Park covers 1300 acres, and you are at liberty to investigate every foot of it.

Above the house the canyon closes to a narrow defile, and giant ledges of brown colored granite rear their perpendicular walls well toward the cloud line. The scene is inviting, and you wander on to where nature has created a natural reservoir. In the ages of the long ago, possibly before man had learned to hew his wooden levitahns from a cedar log, two rival peaks glared across the chasm, eager to enter the fray, lost their foothold at the same fatal moment, crashed against each other with such force as to weld them together, forming a barrier so compact, and complete, the little stream could not continue on its accustomed course to the sea, thus forming a natural reservoir many acres in extent. Huge oak trees, hoary with moss, twisted and bent, are growing on top of the walls and along the sides. You can stand under the protecting branches of these old patriarchs and peer down into the limpid waters, many feet below, and see more "speckled beauties" at one look than you have caught during the whole time the trout season is open.

Many Interesting Spots
Following in the footsteps of traditional ancestors, I dropped a line, hooked a two-pounder, slipped away before I was tempted to transgress some more. I formed a real attachment for his royal nibs, around a campfire, on my way home. The lake

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuff-up and miserable.—Advertisement.

is a bit difficult to find, as there is no regular trail leading to it, but if "accident" serves you as kindly as she did me, you will not regret the venture, nor the climb.

There are many interesting spots, and points with an historic reminiscence to visit, and if you come with the idea of ferreting them all out in less than a month then you will return home disappointed. "Twin Buttes," "Mount Carmel," and the "Royal Gorge" are places that will play with your fancy for years to come. A natural bridge, rivaling in scenic beauty and picturesque surroundings the world famous natural bridge in Virginia. Ascend the hill to the east, walk a half mile south and you have reached a spot where you can look on nature in her wildest mood. A miniature "Grand Canyon" spreads out before you, with the vivid realities of the original one. The walls are sheer, and the coloring almost weird. There is a patch as blue as indigo, tapering off to a delicate pink. Watch a bit and you imagine the colors shift to suit your fancy. To one who is "supposed" to know everything, I asked, "how did it happen there is no stream here?" Applying a philosophy as old as time, he answered, "damfino."

The love of exploration will doubtless tingle in your veins, but if you have the bump of philoprogenativeness strong in your make-up—then I admonish you—don't do it. If Kane, or Cook had found the place, the world would already know of its existence. You will have no trouble in finding it now—just follow my shoe tracks—they are number 9.

In Hands of Dr. Sawbones
I suppose you have begun to wonder where I am. Twelve days ago, I came to a private hospital in Santa Ana to undergo an operation, made necessary by a fall while taking down our exhibit at the Land Show at Kansas City, Mo., five years ago. Old Doctor Sawbones, whose foot adz and cleaver hacked holes in my cuticle, says I am not going to blow the lights out—not now. Doc's a wise old guy, and he knows. Come and see me. It's awfully lonesome, lying here with only these four dumb walls and the sound outside of shuffling feet on the busy street for companions.

Yours truly,
D. W. McDANNALD.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

TAX LEAGUE IS ASKING COUNTY CHARTER START

Petition Referred to District Attorney For Outline of Possibilities

This morning A. A. Mills of Anaheim as a committee of the Orange County Taxpayers' League, presented the Board of Supervisors with a petition of the league, signed by S. J. Jackman and Mills, asking that the county board take steps to call an election of freeholders whose duty it shall be to formulate a county charter for Orange county.

The letter asked that the county board state to the league whether or not it would call the election. In the event the election is not called, the league proposes to start an initiative measure. That is what Mills said was the intent. He asked that an answer be given by a week from next Saturday.

The letter was referred to the district attorney for a report upon the charter possibilities. That report will be given this afternoon, and probably action on the league petition will be taken at once.

Bids Are Rejected
Three bids were received for building a road in San Juan canyon. The lowest bid was about $3150 from the Magill-Finley Company. Supervisor Leck said the road could be built for less at day labor, and on his motion all bids were rejected and a resolution for building the road by day labor was passed.

Are Reappointed
Yesterday Willard Smith of Villa Park and T. E. Stephenson of Santa Ana were reappointed as members of the county board of forestry, each for a four-year term.

Permits to lay pipelines were granted to J. S. Williams at Smeltzer; Herman Krueger, Yorba street; S.A.V.I. Co., Newport road; A. H. Tice, West Orange; C. L. McComber, Northham; J. P. Cunningham, Arch Beach Heights.

HODGEMAN HAS NEW GAG GETTING MONEY

John Hodgman was taken into custody yesterday by City Police Officer Joe Ryan as a suspicious character.

It is alleged that Hodgman has been working among members of the Christian Science church for financial assistance, alleging that he is traveling all over the country trying to find his mother and father. He claims to have traced them to this vicinity and recently was but two hours behind them at Huntington Beach.

He recently inserted an ad here asking for information as to the whereabouts of his mother and father, and with this as a basis to work on has solicited charity.

M. D. ASSOCIATION TO INSTALL HEADS

The annual meeting and installation of officers of the Orange County Medical Association will be held Tuesday evening at James'. It was decided last night at the regular monthly meeting of the organization at the Public Library.

Wives of members of the association will be present at Tuesday night's meeting, as will also the matrons from the several hospitals of the county.

Following a banquet, an address will be delivered by Dr. R. A. Cushman, president of the association. The communication was an appeal for medical men to enlist in the Medical Reserve Corps.

Last night's meeting was well attended, physicians from several cities of the county being present.

AT THE COURTHOUSE

TO CLOSE PLACE AS A PUBLIC NUISANCE

Disorderly Place At Anaheim Proceeded Against Under State Law

Action has been brought in the superior court by Deputy District Attorney Koepsel to put boards on a rooming house at Anaheim. Dr. W. S. McFarlane, a veterinary surgeon of the Mother Colony, is named as defendant, he being owner of the property.

Action is based upon the Red Light Abatement Act, this being the first occasion in which it has been used in this county. This week three places at Anaheim were raided, and women were arrested.

The complaint filed by Koepsel states that Dr. McFarlane owns the building at 116 West Chartress street, Anaheim, and that a rooming house located there was found to be a public nuisance as outlined in the abatement act. The court is asked to order that the furniture of the place be taken out and sold by the sheriff at auction, court costs to be paid and the residue turned over to the women who owned the furniture and who had a lease on the rooming house. The court is also asked to decree that the rooming house shall be closed for one year.

Will be Filed
The will of Dr. Ida B. Parker, an Orange physician who died on April 15, was filed for probate today. The estate of $10,000 is to be distributed among the sisters, mother and three friends, Frances T., Sue L. and Emily F. Scarritt. Annis A. Hoyt of Hollywood is named as executrix.

Final Decree
A final decree of divorce was granted yesterday to J. G. Sanchez against Alice G. Sanchez.

TRABUCO YIELDS BIG TROUT TO F. MALLETT

To Fred Mallett, once noted as a semi-pro pitcher in Southern California and now prominent Westminster farmer, belongs the credit of catching what is conceded to be the largest trout ever pulled out of an Orange county stream.

Fishing on the Trabuco creek, about a half mile above the school house, Mallett yesterday pulled out of the waters a trout weighing six and a half pounds and measuring twenty-eight inches from tip to tip.

Mallett used salmon egg bait and a hook so delicate that had he attempted to lift with it a weight equal to that of the fish the leader would have broken, according to the view of those who viewed the lucky angler's equipment and catch at Victor Walker's sporting goods store yesterday afternoon.

The trout put up a game battle and it required all of Mallett's skill to prevent the fish from breaking away. With Mallett were also Len Griswold and Bob Hazard.

OBREGON RESIGNS AS MEXICO WAR MINISTER

MEXICO CITY, May 2.—General Obregon, one of the government's chief supporters, resigned his position as minister of war today, a short time after President Carranza had been sworn into office. His resignation was unexpected. Carranza had depended on him for the war portfolio in the cabinet, which is just being formed. Obregon pleaded ill health.

In asking Carranza to accept his resignation, he declared he was always ready and willing to serve Mexico in any national or international emergency.

Carranza went ahead with the organization of his cabinet today. He named Pani as secretary of commerce; Pastor Rouaix, Fomento; Aubert as secretary of interior relations, and will fill other posts from the ranks of the present acting sub secretaries.

READY TO INSTRUCT SANTA ANA PUPILS IN METER READING

Edison Company Dist. Agent Believes Demonstration Idea Good

Santa Ana, Cal., April 30, 1917.
Editor Register:—In a recent issue of the Santa Ana Register there appeared an editorial commenting upon the idea of having the principal of the public schools take up the question of instructing pupils of the schools in meter reading.

It appears to me that your idea is a most excellent one and I would be happy to co-operate with you further if it is your desire to have this important subject brought to the attention of our public school officials, by offering the services of some one on the staff of the Southern California Edison Company who would visit the High School or any other school selected in Orange County, and give practical demonstration to the pupils of the method of reading various kinds of meters.

It has always been our policy to furnish our consumers with this information but your idea of teaching the school children how to read meters would, in our opinion, be a better method of spreading this information.

Yours very truly,
W. L. DEIMLING,
District Agent of Southern California Edison Company.

POLY SQUELCHES ANAHEIMERS BY 3-1 IN CHASE FOR PENNANT

Smith's Men Step Nearer to County Flag By Winning In Peppless Game

Santa Ana took one step nearer the county championship in baseball last night when Coach Smith's Poly henchmen gave Anaheim High a neat 3 to 1 walloping at the Mother Colony. There now only remains one conflict for the locals in the pennant dash, the Huntington Beach battle of next week.

While the Poly aggregation showed a decided improvement in their fielding, Bryan and Vanderlip, especially coming through with flying colors, their hitting was rather on the blink. When it came to slugging in pinches they simply weren't there.

"Kid" Burke grooved 'em across for the Poly contingent with big Danner gunning for the Anaheim boys. This Danner, by the way, is the same bird who touched up "Dutch" Hinricks for a homer in the Anaheim-Orange struggle. Yesterday Burke whiffed him four straight times, once with two men on bases.

Santa Ana tallied twice in the initial round. Raney singled cleanly to center and Tyrrell tripled to deep center, scoring the speed merchant. Tyrrell came over a minute later.

The losers pushed one around by reason of a passed ball but after that were never dangerous. They seemed content merely to hold Smith's cohorts down to a low score. The game from the first inning on was the most peppless melee the locals have indulged in this season.

One play in the sixth spasm may have a lot to do with the locals' chances for the gonfalon. Santa Ana plugged the sacks with one away. On a hit to Danner, "Blondy" Morrison, the local pitching hero, who was in left field, tore in from third to tally. The catcher blocked the pan and Morrison ran into him full tilt.

He injured his knee and was forced to retire from the encounter, Friend relieving him. It is not known just how badly he is hurt, but the big fellow was limping around the rest of the game. If he is out, Poly chances for the championship are knocked higher than a kite.

A good word must be said for the work of young Ralph Barker, the freshman, with the mask and mitt. He caught a couple of rounds in excellent shape. Coach Smith believes he has found the man to take Captain Holzgrafe's place next year.

EX-GOVERNOR OF TENNESSEE DELIVERS SPLENDID ADDRESS

Speaker Presents Strong Argument In Favor of National Prohibition

In one of the best addresses of the Chautauqua to date, M. R. Patterson, former Governor of Tennessee, last night severely arraigned John Barleycorn. His convincing and eloquent resume of the devastation of happy homes by the liquor traffic, his sincere appeal for the support of the people in making the nation dry, and the arraignment of the national government for legalizing the greatest of all curses held the vast audience spell-bound for more than an hour.

"The Mind of a Nation," was his subject, and that mind is the elimination of the liquor traffic.

The topic suggested to most every one that the lecture would be on the present war and this government's duty in the premises and his development of his subject on prohibition lines was something of a surprise. No platform orator ever made a deeper impression on a Santa Ana audience in an appeal for suppression of the liquor traffic than did the speaker of last night.

He opened his address with reference to the present crisis and said he was and ever had been an advocate of universal military service.

Richest, Most Defenseless Country
 "We are the richest and yet the most defenseless of the first-class powers on earth," said the speaker. "We are shareholders of a democracy and have been content in drawing our dividends without any consideration for the future. We have drifted along in our pursuit of happiness and pleasure and have taken no particular interest in the affairs of government. Our life ought to be the government itself."

"This is the day of individual thought and activity. We have been growing fast. We have lost something in the rapidity of our growth. We would have been better off had that growth been slower and more attention given to closer relationship with the government. We have grown in business ideas. We have a few corporations today whose combined revenues exceed that of the forty-eight states in the Union. We have grown larger around the stomach, but smaller around the heart. Pleasure, wealth, ease, have taken the place of the brotherly love that dominated our forefathers."

Patriotism at Low Ebb
 "Patriotism as our fathers knew it is at its lowest ebb. We have lost our veneration for old people; we have lost our courtesy for womanhood; we take nothing seriously. We laugh from the cradle to the grave. Who are the best known Englishmen. Not Asquith or other prominent statesmen of England, but Charlie Chaplin. It has come to pass that we would rather see Chaplin at the movies than read Shakespeare. Something is wrong with the American people."

"There is a reason—we have been worshipping at the shrine of Mammon and not at the shrine of God."

Passing from the war to the subject of prohibition, Patterson made unity the big word.

"While I was a Confederate soldier, today I am first of all an American citizen and I come in the interest of an American unity," he said.

Unity is Big Word

"There are forty-eight states in the Union. Each has different laws on rates of interest, on marriages, on many points that are of vital interest. The time has come when we must couple up and have a larger America and never before—we must have uniformity. I have no consideration for the old-time theme of 'state rights.' We need something more than na-

PINAFORE COMPANY LARGEST EVER PUT OUT IN THE TENT

Santa Ana's chautauqua for 1917 will close tonight with the presentation of "H. M. S. Pinafore."

The Pinafore Company is the largest and most expensive organization ever brought to any Chautauqua. The company carries a car of special scenery and properties. There is an orchestra with Harry Mandeville as conductor. There are principals of national reputation, including Marie Horgan, Howard Marsh, Harry Luck stone, Arthur Pace Ripple and Karl Stall.

Each of these principals has appeared in the most noted operas and in the largest cities of the world. The chorus is composed of fine, clear young men and women with good voices, trained by artists.

The Chautauqua tents and dressing rooms and platform had to be enlarged and made especially to order this season to accommodate the large number of players and the elaborate scenery.

national government to hold us together—we need national spirit, national and collective unity.

"In our national congress pork-barrelism has been substituted for patriotism."

"I have always advocated universal military service. If the United States had paid one-half of the first cost of preparation for this war in universal training and preparedness we today would be at peace. Peace and overconfidence lulled our people to sleep, into lethargy. I hope this war will be the last ever waged by kings."

"The most important question before the people of today is, 'What shall we do with the liquor traffic in America?'"

"My point of view on this issue has changed. Once in my time I thought the man who advocated prohibition was insane. I have had experience. My experience has taught me that neither local option nor a dry state are of avail—only as a means to an end. National prohibition must come if the nation is to be saved—and it is certain to come. Ten years will see national prohibition in force. The results of Carrie Nation's campaign, the campaigns of other great workers in the cause are now in evidence. Little by little the black spots in city, county and state life are being wiped out. Soon Washington, D. C., will be the only capital of a nation that is dry."

Largest Cities Control Government
 "The larger cities in the states control the government of the states to a large extent, and particularly with reference to control of the liquor evil. They are herded to the polls and voted by the saloon people. The campaign is when this great government will have the great stream of foreigners pouring into this country diverted from the cities to the country, where they may learn the industries of the country. The success of prohibition depends on whether or not the country districts and the smaller cities can overcome the vote of the larger cities with their thousands of foreign-born people who vote at the dictates of the saloon people."

"Prohibition is not the panacea for all our ills, but it will cure many of them. And as one of the permanent

Dairymen Increase Prices to Protect Themselves From Financial Ruin

Local dairymen are confronted with conditions which they state make it necessary to do one of two things—either advance prices of their products or go out of business.

Scarcity of feed for their dairy herds, with the attendant high prices has, according to one dairyman, already been the cause of at least three small dairies selling their dairy stock to the butchers and quitting business. Chas. F. Heil, of the Excelsior Dairy Company, states that never before in the history of Orange county has stock feed been so scarce. This is due largely to the fact that a great many alfalfa and other hay ranchers have found it more profitable to raise beans and sugar beets than to grow hay.

Nor is the scarcity of hay a strictly local condition. Heil states that he recently went to Los Angeles to buy alfalfa hay and was told by one of the largest dealers there, that there was none to be had at that time. This dealer informed Heil that he expected a few cars of alfalfa from the Imperial Valley would be in sometime next week and that he could deliver it at $25 per ton f.o.b. Santa Ana.

Heil learns from good authority that the hay crop of the state is sixty per cent below normal this year.

Land that produces good alfalfa is also good beet and bean land, both of which crops are promising such handsome returns that much of the and that was formerly used for growing hay has been put into the more productive crops this year.

The dairying district of Orange county is limited in extent. The best dairy district is in the vicinity of Old Newport but much of these former alfalfa lands have recently been turned into bean and beet ranches.

The manager of the Southern California Milk Producers' Association stated to Heil that the milk supply in Los Angeles is running short and that he creameries are paying more for milk right now than ever before at his time of year. A further advance in milk prices is predicted by this authority.

Local dairymen state that they have sold down the price of milk as long as they can and it is now a case of advancing their prices or selling their cows and quitting business.

The new prices of milk which have been adopted and which went into effect yesterday are as follows: Pints, former price, five cents, hereafter will be six cents; quarts, former price, ten cents, now eleven cents. Practically all the dairymen in Orange county have agreed to the raise in prices.

ASSEMBLYMAN WILL BE HOME TOMORROW

Burke Selected By the Governor to Handle Big Bills In Lower House

Assemblyman J. C. Burke and his wife will arrive here tomorrow from Sacramento, following the adjournment of the legislature last Monday.

During the closing days of the session Governor Stephens selected the Orange county assemblyman to handle in the lower house two big measures for the administration. One of these was for creating a state defense guard and the other was the bill allowing mutual water companies to sell surplus water to non-stockholders. The bills were put through and will be signed.

COLLEGE NIGHT
AT METHODIST CHURCH HELD

League was conducted by Geo. Oertley, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Oertley of Garden Grove, and a good worker in the Y. M. C. A., Ralph Jayne, vice president Y. M. C. A., Wilbur Long, graduate, a teacher, Reull Olson, debater and editor U. S. C. year book "El Rodeo." Roy Bose, conference chair, Earl Prior, member Glee Club, musician.

Those who had charge of the evening service were Ben Oertley, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Oertley, president of U. S. C. Y. M. C. A., who introduced the speakers, Roy Bose gave a talk on "Prayer." Warren Lampart, son of Rev. Lampart, pastor of Vincent's church, 28th and Main streets, Los Angeles, gave a talk on "Service." Yakley Cleon, graduate of Manual Arts, who was president of the student body of 2500 members, is taking graduate work preparing for a teacher. Earl Prior, musician, presided at the piano and rendered two selections on the zylphone, one with two mallets and one with four mallets, giving the beautiful Hawaiian love song "Aloha Oe" with the latter. The service throughout was in that fresh, eager, soul inspiring, soul winning college fashion which places college boys while being among them and of them are still in a class by themselves. The services were more appreciated because of home boys and the work they are doing along with their college course.

The boys were invited to the Oertley home after services and were treated to a luncheon such as only Mrs. Oertley knows how to prepare. They voted everything to be "just as appetizing as mother used to prepare."

NATION 'DRY' IN WAR TIME IS GROVE PLEA

GARDEN GROVE, May 2.—At the Sunday morning service at the Methodist church Rev. Reinhold read a message written to the President of the United States and asked an expression of the congregation.

George R. Reyburn moved that the message be sent and the vote was unanimous. The message, which was sent in a night letter, is as follows:

"To Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States: Believing that the present war crisis demands, as a measure of efficiency and safety, the prohibition of the manufacture and the sale of intoxicating liquors, the Methodist Episcopal Church of Garden Grove, California, respectfully urges that you use your best efforts to secure such legislation."

Rev. Reinhold also read a letter of appreciation to Irvine German, which was unanimously sanctioned and will be forwarded to him by night letter. It is as follows.

"Whereas, Mr. Irvine German has been for some time a member of our Sunday school and congregation and an exceedingly faithful and efficient member of our choir; and

"Whereas, a very high sense of duty to his country and a very commendable spirit of patriotism have prompted him to respond to his country's call, and he is at present a member of the regular army of the United States of America, be it

Almost Every American Family
Can Own a Maxwell Car

Because it costs only $6 to $8 a month to run a Maxwell—much less than the average American family spends on luxuries

The average American family spends a great deal more than $6 or $8 a month on amusements and luxuries, most of which mean nothing—wouldn't even be missed.

If you owned a Maxwell you'd want to be out in it as much as possible

—which automatically would cut out more than enough of the cost of other pastimes to cover the cost of running your Maxwell

—and besides, you'd be living better, healthier, happier, in the great out of doors,

—and you'd take your place in the world as the owner of a motor car.

That's what the brains behind the Maxwell have done

—given the world a car every man can own.

An achievement! Isn't it?

The Proof of These Statements

There's no theory about these cost-of-operation figures. They're based on what thousands of Maxwell owners are actually doing—running their cars on an absolute outlay of only $6 to $8 a month.

These enthusiastic Maxwell owners tell us, too, that they get upwards of 30 miles out of a gallon of gasoline—many do better than that.

The Maxwell holds the world's record for a non-motor-stop run. A Maxwell stock car made 22,022 miles in 44 days and nights—went 22 miles on every gallon of gasoline used on the long jaunt.

We could tell of many other supreme tests of Maxwell power, endurance and economy,

—magnificent deeds, never equalled by any other automobile,

—but we'll cite just one more:

A woman drove this Maxwell 9,700 miles.

Mrs. Miriam Seeley, Professor at the Oregon Agricultural College, made a 9,700-mile tour across the Continent and back in a Maxwell.

Her total expense account was 1½ cents a mile, including gasoline, oil and repairs.

And, remember, her journey was made on all sorts of roads—good and bad—across the desert and over the mountains.

That's the Maxwell! Isn't that the car for the man who knows the worth of a dollar?

The World's Greatest Motor Car Value

The Maxwell touring car, equipped with all accessories, costs you today only $665 f. o. b. Detroit. Yet every bit of metal in it is the finest obtainable for the purpose used, and is rigidly subjected to the most advanced scientific tests.

Material cost has risen tremendously. How, then, can the best be used in a car priced so low?

The answer is—

—the purchasing power of an institution as vast as the Maxwell Motor Company,

—the most efficient machinery,

—the brainiest and most skillful mechanics,

vigilant and scrupulous technical and executive supervision,

—and the development of one model, of time-tried and proved design, to as near perfection as brains and skill can make it.

The Maxwell engine is a marvel of power and punch—simple, steady, durable and flexible.

Maxwell parts are all of known efficiency—not an experimental item in the whole car.

Maxwell—a Car to be Proud of

With refinement of finish, with grace and dignity of form and line—your Maxwell will show up splendidly alongside any car.

It is roomy and comfortable, too.

Let the Car Speak for Itself

Come to our sales rooms and look the Maxwell over,

—inspect the car thoroughly, inside and out,

—ask us as many questions as you care to,

—you needn't take anything on faith, for every statement made here can be verified.

The Maxwell will make good, and we know it.

HUNTINGTON BEACH

ARE UTILIZING CITY LOTS FOR FOOD PRODUCTS

Huntington Beach Has Goodly Quantity of Patriotic Vegetables

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 2.—Huntington Beach has not gained as much notoriety as some of its sister cities in the matter of a preparedness campaign. Nevertheless, there are a few cities which, for their size, are doing more along this line than Huntington Beach is doing.

More vacant lots than ever before have been devoted to truck gardening this year. Even before the campaign was opened in other cities for the cultivation of vacant lots, Huntington Beach had begun to make use of this resource and the consequence is that there never was such a quantity of potatoes, cabbage, lettuce and onions available as are available this year.

The agriculture class at the high school is now harvesting crops which were put in many weeks ago and a considerable acreage of new potatoes is now ready for use.

The Chamber of Commerce has taken up the matter of cultivating the few vacant lots that remain and the Huntington Beach Water Company is co-operating by making a slight reduction in the price of water after the first 500 feet but in larger quantities the price is reduced to 60 cents per 1000 feet, which will make it possible for those who wish to raise vegetables on a large scale to do so with some prospect of a profit.

A special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to be held this evening, will complete arrangements for a system of aids in market gardening.

Annual Affair

The annual grammar school day at the Huntington Beach high school will be held on Friday of this week beginning at 9:30 in the morning. About ten schools will be represented in the events. Newport Beach is anxious to arrange a tennis match with one of the other grammar schools but thus far it has not been possible to make the arrangement. The forenoon will be devoted to an essay contest, declamation contest, old-fashioned spelling match, sight reading contest and others of the same nature. Picnic lunches will be enjoyed at the noon period and about 1:30 a drill will be given by the girls' physical training class. After this drill the athletic meet will begin and at its close the banners will be awarded. This is the seventh annual grammar school day contest and has become a decided feature in the school life of this end of the county.

Hugh Criley has returned from a business visit to Bakersfield.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church gave a Saturday afternoon social at the church last week. It was a decided success. The afternoon was made enjoyable by a series of games. A light luncheon was served for 15 cents and a cooked food sale gave an opportunity for those who so desired to lay in a stock of eatables for Sunday consumption.

The inter-class swimming match between the Seventh and Eighth grades resulted in a victory for the Seventh grade.

The high school meets Anaheim in a tennis tournament tomorrow on the local courts.

SPORTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, May 2.—The zip, the pep, the earnestness and the all round dash included in the makeup of the Boston Braves which carried that team from the depths of last place to a world's championship in 1914, stand a chance of tearing holes in an otherwise well-laid-out plan of one John McGraw this year.

The Braves are different from other baseball clubs. They are trained that way by George Stallings, and because they are different, fans are born all over again in the enthusiasm of baseball when they visit a park where the Boston ruffians are performing.

It is natural for a baseball player to get out on the field, smite himself with his hands, jam his paws together and shout "Attaboy."

But with the Braves it's something else. A shout from a member of that baseball club is one step in the George Stallings method of winning a baseball game.

Ed. Kometchy is just a great, big, overgrown man who learned to play ball. John Evers is a bundle of nerves, always fighting. Walter Maranville is a little fellow with a marvelous pair of hands and a set of nerves that won't quit fighting. Red Smith is just a ball player who has learned to fight and fight hard for every step of a baseball game. The outfield represents the same thing. The Braves have been called a money team. Sportsmanship, they say, is a word that doesn't thrive in the vicinity of Braves' field. But watch the turnstiles when the Braves play. The crowd likes it.

To watch the Braves in action is the most entertaining thing in sport. The Braves are not made up of high-class

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET Potatoes and onions again dropped sharply on the market yesterday and it is expected that this is but the continuation of a downward movement which will eventually bring values to normal levels. The best grade of northern old-crop white potatoes were offered Tuesday for $5.50 per hundred while Oregon Burbanks were cut to $5.25 and Russets to $5.50 per hundred. New potatoes are beginning to pour into this city and in consequence prices are steadily declining.

Yesterday there was any quantity of prime stock that could be had for 7 to 7 1/2 cents a pound and before the end of the present week it is anticipated that 5 cents a pound will be the ruling quotation. Sweet potatoes are also slightly easier although the larger houses have so far refused to cut their prices.

Both Bermuda and Crystal Wax onions were lowered yesterday to $1.75 a crate, and there were some bargain dealers who were asking only $1.50 for the stuff. At these prices new-crop onions are bringing only 3 cents a pound as compared to 10 and 12 cents a pound which were asked for old crop stuff before the new onions came onto the market. Old Australian browns were reduced to 8 cents a pound recently but there are practically no buyers for the same today.

FEATURE STORY FOR THIS DAY BY UNITED PRESS

BY F. A. MCKENZIE
(Written For the United Press)
WITH THE BRITISH ARMS IN THE FIELD, March 30.—(By mail.)—
I asked a hard bitten Westerner what had induced him to join the British ranks. "I always hated 'Greasers' (Mexicans) and Huns," he replied.
"I can't kill 'Greasers' or I'd be hanged.
But I jumped at the chance of killing Huns, and I'm right on the job." I asked a second, a quiet spoken Maine boy, who has the military medal for gallantry on the field. "I thought from the first that this was a fight in which all ought to take part,"
he said, "and so I came."

The second is the prevailing type of the Americans who have come here to France. They have thought out the matter, have come to a decision, and have joined up for neither fun, frolic nor adventure. Often enough, they coldly hate and despise the German, and when they let themselves go, their eloquence about the Hun leaves their less nimble-tongued neighbors admirably envious. "Gee, if I could only talk like that," said one Alberta boy after an ex-Texas cowboy had spoken his mind for five minutes on the Hun as he really is. He never used the same adjective twice, and each adjective was like an added drop of vitriol.

Varied Types

They are of varied types. There is, for instance, Lieutenant Larrabee, a West Pointer, who broke his course to join as a private. He earned the D. C. M. for special gallantry in rescuing wounded, and had his commission soon after. Shepherdson, a noted sniper in one infantry battalion, was in the old days a very well-known Western cow puncher. W. H. Harton, now a Canadian rifleman, was, when a member of the National Guard of New York, a champion pistol shot, and one of the competitors for the Elcho
Shield. He was wounded at Zillebeke.
Williams, of Indiana, was a captain in his state militia. He joined the French Foreign Legion and won the Medaille Militaire. Then he was transferred to the Canadians, was wounded

State Lansing. The British commissioner, who is taking up all the and decorated with the British Military Medal. The story of Rogers, the American boy who, acting as a runner, was wounded and won the military medal on the Somme, and then was claimed back by the American authorities, is well-known. He didn't want to leave, and officers and men in his old regiment have nothing but good to say of him.

Different Record

Here is a record of a different kind, and greatly as it is to the credit of the man, I do not feel that I ought to give his name. A brilliant young officer in the United States Army resigned and was given a commission with the Canadians. He occasionally drank too much, and as a result was advised to resign. He did so but immediately re-enlisted as a private. "If I can't keep sober as an officer, I'll have to when in the ranks," he said.

He was sent to the front, where he soon made a fresh record, this time for gallantry. He was attached to the Machine Gun Corps, and won promotion to sergeant and the military medal. After one heavy fight, in which he stood out as a born leader, he was offered another commission, which he accepted. His old weakness had been conquered. When there's a bit of daring he is the man for it.
Everyone admires and likes him. "I'd rather have a man who's tripped up and recovered than one who hadn't enough blood in his veins to feel the force of temptation," said one experienced general to me. "I've no use for the second kind."

Shows Bravery

Sergeant Martin is another American who won a D. C. M. At the fight for Observatory Ridge, there was a great deal of wire obstructing our advance. The whole front was swept by shell fire, machine guns and snipers. It seemed certain death to go out.
Martin crept from our trenches in broad daylight, stealthily approached the German wires, cut quite a quantity and returned. Incidentally, he was wounded. "He showed a very fine example as a soldier," says his superiors.

Private G. Sale, another young American, won a military medal in the same advance. Although wounded, he

TIRED OUT.

There's many a housewife who sits on the porch in the growing shadows of a summer evening, knowing to the full what it is to feel tired out; as if there was not another ounce of effort left in her. But she knows—how sound her slumber will be and how refreshed
the morning will find her.
That's the tiredness of a healthy woman. But it's another thing for the sick woman to feel tired out.
Rest only seems to increase her suffering. Just as in profound silence a discord jars the ear
more forcibly,
so now that she has stopped moving about, this tired woman feels more acutely the aching back and throbbing nerves.

Sick women, thousands of them right here in California, have been made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, heals inflammation and ulceration.

Los Angeles, Cal.—"After being seriously ill for some time, with no relief from any doctor or their medicines, in desperation I tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and was soon restored to health and happiness. I also recommend the 'Lotion Tablets' to all women suffering with diseases peculiar to their sex. Long live Dr. Pierce and his never-failing remedies."
"I write this with pleasure and gratitude."—MRS. THRESE STEVENS, 232 1/2 South Grand Ave.

insisted on going back into the firing line, as soon as his wounds were dressed, carrying a load of grenades with him. He was then wounded a second time. Lieutenant J. L. Macfarlane of San Francisco, was machine gun officer for a battalion of Pioneers.
He had earned his promotion from the ranks. He died at Maple Copse.

WINTERSBURG

MAKE STRENUOUS TRIP TO TEXAS AFTER CATTLE

WINTERSBURG, May 2.—Fred
Reuther and son, Fred, Jr., returned Monday night from a strenuous trip to El Paso. They left a week ago, their object being the purchase of a bunch of beef cattle. They rounded up 510 head, which were shipped on a special train of thirteen cars. Twice on the way the cattle were unloaded for feed and water, but when the train reached here, seven were found dead from exhaustion. The cattle will be fattened on the Reuther feed, and when ready for market will probably be doled out to the people of Orange county by the Anaheim Beef and Provision Company.

The Reuthers did not fall in love with the Texas-New Mexico country.
They say Orange county is heaven compared to it. Conditions on the border are unsettled, with soldiers to be seen everywhere. Prices for food and lodging are very high. A very plain, ordinary room cost $7.50 for three nights. A dish of prunes—California grown, we suppose—cost 20 cents.
The same price was charged for one baked apple. Meat and potatoes were served very sparingly, but the bill presented at the close of the meal was of good proportions. Perhaps it would help some of our people here to count their blessings.

Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Huff, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Huff and small daughter motored to Hawthorne Sunday to visit Mrs. Ola Pawn. The doctor's granddaughter, Miss Bertha Pawn, returned with them and spent the night, resuming her school duties in the Hurling-ton Beach grammar school Monday.

Ray Shaffer has been notified by his captain to be prepared for a call between now and the 8th inst., that the company would probably be gone by that date. Shaffer has been in service on the border and knows some of the experiences of army life.

The tent house south of the church, in which the young men's Sunday school class meets, is being repaired, the members of the class doing the work.

Mrs. S. A. Roberson, Miss Mae Roberson, Violet, Charlie and Francis Roberson and Mr. and Mrs. James Roberson drove to Laguna Tuesday in the new Maxwell recently purchased by Mrs. Roberson. They enjoyed a picnic dinner at the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Farrar served a bountiful chicken dinner Sunday to their guests, Rev. and Mrs. O. N. Oleson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gillette and two sons, of Anaheim, were guests of Mr.
and Mrs. Charles N. Davis Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Phillips and daughters motored to Clearwater and to Haynes Sunday, visiting Mrs. Phillips' parents at the latter place.

Mrs. Florence Swartz, who has been the house guest of her cousin, Mrs. S.
G. Huff, returned to Los Angeles Saturday and will soon leave for her Kansas home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Roberson entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Moore and family for dinner Sunday.
Monte Chaunell and Eugene Nichols of Torrance visited G. W. Nichols and family on Saturday.
Mrs. G. M. Roberson went to Or-

Pure, Soft Water Attracts Kidney Sufferers Low Altitude Relieves Nervousness

Quite contrary to beach custom, there will be no increase in rental rates during the summer season, as Huntington Beach is becoming an all-the-year health resort. Its pure, soft water has proven very beneficial to scores of people suffering from acute or chronic kidney trouble. Seaside climate has long been recognized by medical experts as helpful for such ailments, but Huntington Beach seems to be especially favored among the beaches in possessing pure, soft water, free from injurious minerals. This water comes from deep wells on the mesa, and is not only healthful, but very pleasant to the taste, and clear and cool every month of the year. One man suffering from kidney trouble in a northern state, was given by his physician just three months to live; he decided to try Huntington Beach and today is one of the most active and prominent business men of that city.

Hundreds of business and professional men find great relief from overworked nerves by spending a few days or weeks at Huntington Beach. There is no place so restful to the nerves as the seaside. The low altitude affords complete relaxation to all the nerves and induces sound, refreshing sleep. The invigorating salt-air, Mother Nature's best tonic, gives one the appetite of a growing child. A week at the seaside works wonders for the whole family,—the father, worn with the keen competition in business; the mother, weary with the monotonous round of daily duties; and the children, irritable with the strain of school work. The quiet, moral atmosphere of Huntington Beach appeals to all who desire a perfect recreation, one that refresh-es and invigorates both body and spirit.

To meet the growing demand for attractive, low-priced apartments at the beach, the Ocean View and Seaside Apartments at Huntington Beach have recently been erected. They are both located on Ocean Avenue, with an uninterrupted view of the ever-changing ocean and far-famed Catalina Island. Light and sunshine, the two most valuable adjuncts to health, pervade every room; there are no deep, over-hanging porches and each apartment is built on a corner lot.

Each suite has a real "Homey" atmosphere, with its brick fireplace, convenient bookcases, hardwood floors, large buffet, harmonious wall tints, stationary washtubs, gas, electricity, telephone, bath, and large garage with shower bath in the rear. These four-room suites may be obtained furnished or unfurnished at unusually low rates—varying from $25 to $50 a month.

Cottages, rooms and tents are also very low priced at Huntington Beach, even at the height of the summer season. A family or party of four or five may have a week's outing at Huntington Beach for only $7.50 on the popular Tent City Grounds, within two blocks of the ocean.

All questions will be promptly answered by

NORTHWEST LABOR SHORTAGE ACUTE

ST. PAUL, May 2.—With farmers and agricultural experts co-operating to raise the largest crops in the history of the Great Northwest, a labor crisis which may defeat the carefully laid plans to increase production is developing serious proportions.

So serious is the labor shortage that plans to furlough hundreds of men who will be attending summer training camps at Fort Snelling and pour them into the harvest fields of the Northwest have been suggested.

Attention will be turned immediately to stemming the tide of immigration into Canada. Five hundred farm hands are crossing the line daily, it is estimated. The Canadian government has begun a systematic campaign to attract American farmers and farm laborers to her vast fields left deserted by the call to arms. Homesteads are offered on easy conditions. Men are given certificates promising they will not be called on for military service. Every promise of success and wealth is held out to them.

This campaign is seriously objected to by the Northwest. It is held inimical to the interests of the United States and discourteous to an ally when the United States is facing a labor crisis.

But after half a dozen commands have been carried out, order took the place of confusion. Practically the same drill schedule will be carried out next Monday night, except, perhaps, more time will be devoted to company drill and less to individual squad work.

The latest adjunct to the Guards is a training school for men seeking a place in the company as non-commissioned officers.

Standard Paint and Paper Co., 209
West Fourth.—Adv.

"Southern Prepared Paint" Is the best for professional painter as well as amateur, because:

1. It contains only the best materials, selected as only an experienced and honorable maker can do.
2. White Lead as sold today, alone with Linseed Oil, makes a fugitive paint. It will decay and disintegrate rapidly.
3. "Southern Prepared Paint" has been made from the beginning to give better results than are possible otherwise. It must not be associated with cheap imitations and "special" mixtures.
4. It is mixed and ground by machinery better than it is possible for any one to do by hand.
5. It is made by a reputable manufacturer. It is therefore no experiment, and you take no risk in using it.
